

Champagne Jacquesson Dizy

Dizy Corne Bautray 2007

A powerful, deep wine, the 2007 Dizy Corne Bautray offers notable depth to match its ample frame. Still quite fresh and vibrant for the year, the Dizy Corne Bautray wraps around the palate with layers of expressive yellow stone fruit nuances. Although the 2007 is not a super complex wine, it is impeccably balanced and harmonious, with a sense of spherical richness that is impossible to miss. There is plenty to like, that is for sure. Disgorged November, 2015 and bottled with zero dosage. This is the only lieu-dit Champagne Jacquesson bottled in the 2007 vintage.

94 points—Antonio Galloni, Vinous Media, August 2016

A wonderfully elegant, pure and strikingly complex nose features plenty of yeast character on the dried green apple, floral and citrus-suffused aromas that reveal just a hint of secondary development. There is equally good depth to the refined, intense and sophisticated flavors that are supported by a relatively fine mousse, all wrapped in a gorgeously long and distinctly dry but not austere finish. This is a knock-out good effort that could easily be aged further but it's so tasty right now that it's hard to resist. In a word, marvelous.
